Smith Will Speak At Graduation Program June 8

Commencement exercises will begin at 10 a.m. on June 8 in the Outdoor theater. Their program will feature Dr. T. V. Smith as guest speaker, who has as his topic The New Heroism.

Smith is professor of poetry, politics and philosophy in the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y. He was a founder of the University Round Table and has appeared on most adult educational programs. A leading educator, his literary works include some 20 books.

Other guests of honor on the program include The Right Rev. Noel Porter, Bishop, The Episcopal Diocese of Sacramento. Mr. Porter will offer the invocation and benediction.

Prelude will be presented by the Sacramento State College Concert Band under the baton of Norman J. Hunt, assistant professor of music.

Dr. Harold B. Roberts, dean of educational services and summer session, will present the candidates to Dr. Guy A. West, president of the college, for conference of degrees.

Outstanding senior awards will be presented by Walt Holland, president of the Alumni Association.

1957 Class Elects Joanna Clark As Fall President

Joanna Clark, a speech arts major, will lead the senior class next fall as president. Tom Johnson was elected to head the junior class and Bob Warner, elected on the fourth ballot, will be president of the sophomore class.

The future senior class voted 155 to 33 for a class combination fee. Seniors next fall will pay a lump sum of $13 which will cover cap and gown, diploma, class dues, class gift, alumni dues, senior ball, baccaulaureate reception and senior barbecue.

Other new officers of the senior class will consist of Bob Zaro, vice president; Lois Mead, secretary; and Penny Anton, treasurer.

The junior class elected Rosary Weingart as vice president. Nancy Kausen, a write-in candidate was voted secretary and Nora Tucker, another write-in candidate, was elected treasurer.

On the second ballot the fall sophomore class elected Nancy Marshall as vice president. Carolyn O'Brien will serve as secretary and Mary Jo Sobkowsky was elected treasurer.

Graduates Attend Annual June SSC Baccalaureate Rite

Baccalaureate services will convene for the first time on the college campus on June 7 in the gymnasium. Services begin at 8 p.m. followed by a reception for graduates and their families.

Keynote speaker is Dr. Tully C. Knoles, noted western educator, who is in his tenth year as Chancellor of the College of the Pacific. His topic is "The Cost, the Price, the Value of Freedom."

Knoles was president of the pioneer institution for 27 years prior to his present position at COP. He is also known for his 21 years of radio commentary on The World Today.

Also featured at the services are the college a capella choir and orchestra under the baton of Paschal Monk, assistant professor of music. James Adair, assistant professor of music, will conduct the Sacramento State College Little Symphony performances.

The Rev. Wilford C. Smith, pastor of the Pacific Methodist Church of Sacramento will offer the invocation and benediction.

Council Favors Total Allotments

Student Council voted Monday to allocate budget allotments in total for athletics and publications, letting the respective boards make the final breakdown to the various activities within the area.

John Krier, Associated Students manager, made the suggestion in his report from the board of finance. The boards of athletics and publications will not be allowed to substitute one activity for another, but they will be able to decide how much money will go to each.

The 1955-56 Council in its final meeting refused to take action on the appointment of a Rally Committee chairman. The Rally Coordinating committee nominated Darrell McCluskey for the post, but this year's Council postponed action until the 1956-57 Council takes office immediately after the end of the semester.

Student Council also:

Decided to sponsor a booth at the California State Fair and allocated up to $300 to pay for it.

Endorsed Press club's request to print the 1957 Student Directory.

Granted Chess club's request to go into inactive status.

Heard a report by Orley Bakken, senior representative, on the Sonoma Student Council conference.

Workshop Gives Chamber Opera

The opera workshop class will present a cross-section of Chamber Opera from the 18th to the 20th century in the Little Theater tomorrow, at 8:15 p.m. James Adair, associate professor of music, will direct.

The program will include Bastien and Bastienne by Mozart, representing the classic era. The romantic Secret of Suzanne by Wolf-Ferrari and two modern works: Jean-Marie by Adair, and The Story of Robin and Marion by Darius Milhaud will follow. All except the latter will be excerpts only. The Milhaud opera will be given in its entirety and will be accompanied by a chamber orchestra consisting of violin, flute, clarinet and saxophone.

SSC Seniors Prepare For Pink Champagne

Bids for Pink Champagne, Sacramento State College's ninth annual senior ball, are now on sale in the foyer of Douglass hall, from any senior ball committee member and at the Hornet book store for $2 to Associated Students members and $3 to non-members.

Gordon Marvin and his orchestra will play for the semi-formal affair, June 8, in the Mirror room of the Elks Temple. Women's dress for the dance is formal gowns, while men may wear either dark suits or tuxedos.

Ted Ashworth is general chairman. Committee chairmen and members are: Bill Eipper, chairman of decorations; Mary Jo McAllister, Peggy Wagaman, James Deal, Bob Nelson, Don Shaffer, Ed Briles, Betty Morr, Sally Desenfants, Gordon Hall, Loretta Lowery, Bryan Jamar. Bids are under the direction of Carol Peters, chairman; Bill Lusk and Jim Mischo.

Doris Caldwell is hall chairman; Joan Fleming and Claudene Moresco, theme; Fifi Gurvis, chairman of publicity, assisted by Carol Dudley, Lacry Foster, and Alta Howe; Jack Duke, clean-up chairman; Larry Voss, chairman of refreshments, aided by Richard Kelley and Bill Kent; Zane Vorhes and Creede Anderson, admissions.

Year Termed Rewarding

With this, the last issue of The Hornet for the 1955-56 college year, Sacramento State College says farewell to another eventful and important year in the history of the young institution. Next year SSC will celebrate its tenth anniversary and, more or less, its coming of age.

This year saw Sacramento State win its first football game, the reorganization of the Associated Students constitution, the enrollment of the college go over 4,000, an unusually active Frosh Week and a freshman class that carried its outstanding spirit through the year and ran more candidates for class offices last week than any other class.

In addition, the 1955 Homecoming celebration drew a record crowd and included a super car parade. The opening of the Art building, with its Little Gallery and other art facilities, last summer, and the Music-Speech building, with its well-equipped stage, radio studios and music rooms, early this year were important additions to the campus development program.

The start of the Student Service building, next to the campus bookstore, is an encouraging note to students who gave up the student lounge at the end of last semester when classroom space became a scarcity.

For the first time since the start of the college, this year Sacramento State had a marching band. The group's green and gold uniforms added color and spirit to SSC football games.

A Hornet editorial at the end of October started off a controversy over students holding more than one office. Discussion of the matter went from Student Council to the board of justice, back to Student Council, back to the board and back again to council. After five months of red tape and delay, both students resigned from one position, one rather reluctantly, still believing himself the exception to the rule. This student was then appointed temporarily to the same office, which he is still holding.

The principle set forth in the constitution was upheld, but in actual practice the constitution is still being violated. Whenever the matter is mentioned it is a laughing matter for both council and Associated Students members. It is to be hoped that the situation will not occur again.

A record number of students attended the Model United Nations conference in Oregon early in April, when SSC's delegation of 30 was the largest group there. The most active Associated Students election campaign in the history of SSC was climaxed by an election in which 1,030 students voted, the largest number of students ever to vote in an SSC election.

Student Loan Fund drive and the All College picnic helped wind up the college year this month. The fund drive topped $1,400 and proved both profitable and enjoyable for students participating.

Student Council made history last month when it approved recommendations of an administrative committee on athletics which stated that SSC may have a preseason training table for football players, may accept gifts for the athletic program, and may give scholarships to athletes.

All things considered, this has been a successful and rewarding year for the college. A hard-working and conscientious Student Council helped the college to advance in the eyes of students and the community. Council deserves a vote of thanks for their work.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

Miss Hodge, SSC Student, Gains Renown for Reading

"I have been reading ever since I could talk," states Dorothy Hodge who is well known in the Sacramento area for her dramatic readings. Miss Hodge, who is a sophomore at Sacramento State College, is a non-professional reader who has no desire to be the female counterpart of Charles Laughton.

"I like to read material that I have a feeling for," she explains, "not what I'm ordered to read. I read all kinds of material, ranging from Br'er Rabit stories to the poems of Edgar Allan Poe. I generally read for church programs, P.T.A. meetings or for school children. To be perfectly truthful, I read to anyone who will listen."

Dr. Baxter M. Geeting, chairman of the division of humanities and fine arts, called Miss Hodge "the best non-professional reader I have ever heard."

Among Miss Hodge's other talents is singing. She sings sacred songs and spirituals and has sung for various organizations such as the Lions Club and Eastern Star.

Miss Hodge, who is a native of upstate New York, calls Robert Frost her favorite poet "because he is direct, honest and a fellow New Englander."

Miss Hodge is studying to be an English professor primarily because she likes to be around young people. Many SSC students drop by her home to read poetry, listen to records or just talk. "My hobby is collecting young people," she added, "like some people collect stuffed monkeys."

Recital Set Tonight

A modern dance recital will be held tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Music-Speech building. The recital, directed by Charlotte Bergstrom, assistant professor of physical education, is the first of its nature ever to be presented on the campus. It is planned as an annual event.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(To insure publication of letters, writers must include their names. Correspondence can be delivered or mailed to The Hornet office, 110 Douglas hall, Sacramento State College, or given to any staffer.)

OBJECTS TO TERM

Editor of The Hornet:

Edward "Pete" Tourtellotte, the subject of a feature story in last week's Hornet, uses the name "Gooks" to describe the North Korean enemy. While I am appreciative of Tourtellotte's service in the Korean War and doubly so because of his injury, I am disturbed by his use of a stereotype even when applied to members of an enemy state.

The word "Gook" has a long history in American military slang, reflecting, I'm afraid, a long-standing American prejudice against those who are different, particularly if the difference is a darker skin.

It's about time for college-educated Americans to outgrow provincialism and xenophobia and to think of the residents of all countries, even enemy states, as members of the human race.

JAMBOREE SUCCESSFUL

Editor of The Hornet:

This year's Jamboree was a success because of the cooperation of the participating clubs. I wish to thank all the clubs and especially those clubs which met all the deadlines, and which are eligible for the 10 per cent rebates.

These "honor" clubs are MENC, Pro Artibus, Alpha Psi Omega, Alpha Pi Delta, Phi Kappa Delta, Circle K club, Press club, Kappa Sigma Kappa, BASS, Cosmopolitan club, Xi Theta Chi, Math club, Wesley club, Lutheran Students, and American Chemical society.

I wish to congratulate American Chemical society on being judged the best booth at the Jamboree. To all those who helped make the Jamboree a success I give my thanks.

JACK BROOKS,
Coordinator 1956 Jamboree.

4. Classes which meet for the last time on Thursday evening may hold the examination at next to last meeting in order to avoid conflict with Baccalaureate.
5. Questions concerning the schedule or its application should be referred to the Office of the Registrar.

Schwartz to Lead

Howard Schwartz was reelected president of Inter Club Council at a meeting in the Sierra room Thursday. He will serve for the entire year, following a ruling by ICC which authorizes ICC officers to hold office for both semesters.

Vice president is Patricia Glass of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Ruenell Knox of Home Economics Club will be secretary-treasurer. Miss Glass will also head the committee for the Club Fair which will take place in the first week of the fall semester.

ICC passed two fund raising projects. Circle K will repeat a sale of ball point pens during fall registration.

Press club's request to publish and sell the Student-Faculty Directory was approved.

Coed Takes Seamstress Title, Will Compete In New York

By PATTY MERZ

Sacramento State College has a new state sewing champion on campus. She's Pat Cavanaugh, a gal whose talent and originality with needle and thread won her top place in a regional contest in San Francisco last week.

Next destination on her contest agenda is New York City, where she will enter the grand "Sew-Off" contest, for a prize of $25,000.

Her five-day trip begins June 6 when she leaves Sacramento to compete with 33 women from regions in the United States and Canada. There, each contestant will make a dress from a pattern she selects. This dress, to be worn by a professional model, will be judged along with the prize-winning dress previously made by the participant in her home town. Final judging at the national Sewing and Fashion festival will be based 50 per cent on each dress, plus general appearance and style in the selection of design, color and fabric, and basic construction, with emphasis on quality and accuracy of cutting and finishing.

Professional seamstresses were barred from the contest.

Second place in the contest is $10,000; third, $5,000; fourth, $2,000; fifth, $1,000; and five additional prizes are $500 each.

Miss Cavanaugh is a freshman at SSC, majoring in home economics. She plans to teach the subject after finishing college. She started sewing in junior high school, and now makes most of her own clothes.

She won the local and regional contests with a toast-colored linen two-piece dress, featuring a lined skirt, white beading on the collar, and a long torso line blouse. Presently, she is modeling professionally in Sacramento.

She was named Wool Princess in a contest last year, where she won state honors with a wool dress, which she made.

Home Ec Clubber Wins Scholarship

Saralee Ritchey, a junior at Sacramento State College, majoring in home economics and a member of the Home Economics club, is the recipient of a $250 scholarship presented annually by the Turlock Soroptimist club.

The choice was announced by Vivian Manha, chairman of the Soroptimist Scholarship Committee, at a recent luncheon meeting.

Cosmos Plan Dinner

Mary Ann Rowen and Joe Hood, co-chairmen for Cosmopolitan club's pot-luck dinner party, June 9, have also planned the election of officers for this informal get together. The party is scheduled for 7:3 p.m. at Dr. Joe T. McCullough's home.

Humboldt did it. The Lumberjacks smacked Chico State 7-5 and 6-2 to tie Sacramento State for the Far Western Conference baseball championship. The Hornets and Jacks split a doubleheader here earlier in the season, the only losses for either team.

Although the Arcatans took SSC's diamond squad in the first game of that doubleheader, there was no question in spectators' minds which was the better team. Hal Wolfe concurs. He says his present team "is the best group I've ever coached." Coming from a man who has had three straight championship baseball teams, this is quite a compliment.

For the record, Chico State tied the Hornets in 1954 for the crown. Last year Hal Wolfe's men won it outright. And this year Humboldt and the Riversiders tied for the title. Neither SSC nor Hal Wolfe has lost a baseball championship since The Nest has been in the Far Western league.

Things may be just as bright next year. According to usually reliable sources, several members of Sacramento high school's Sac-Joaquin championship team are headed this way next fall. If so, this may mean the start of a new trend. The Nest has received few athletes directly from the city's high schools in the past.

Of the local high schools, only Grant did not place in the first division. El Camino came in second, Lodi third, and McClatchy fourth. San Juan, which usually sends a few men this way, had a good season also. Sacramento JC, in spite of its coach-firing episode, came out on the plus side of the baseball ledger.

* * * * *

The annual spring all-sports award banquet is a fine affair. Even in local high schools the banquet is presented to the varsity athletes by the student body. But not at SSC. Here, athletes have to pay their own way. At The Nest, the athletes not only finance the whole affair themselves, but also pay the bill for guests, high school athletic directors, and the press. Enough said?

* * * * *

A major item being considered for next year is the preseason training table, originally proposed in an editorial by the writer, and subsequently approved by Council and Administration.

When and if SSC football teams begin to stir up local support, financing a training table, more minor sports, and additional student body activities will be less of a problem. A bigger problem, according to one Council member, is "letting the community know that we're out here, and that we're not a teacher's college, nor a junior college."

As far as financin' is concerned, it is based partly on seasonal ticket sales. But community support, either active, or by identification, has not developed.

As an outgrowth of this entire situation is the need for a full time athletic publicity office. The present one works on a part time basis, has a rapid turnover of personnel, and from time to time varies greatly in the ability and training of the person handling the job. A well trained individual handling athletic publicity and public relations would be beneficial to the entire college.

It is a growing need, as the number of varsity sports has grown. JV's are expected to be added in football and baseball, and boxing and gymnastics have entered the picture.

This is not to be considered a criticism of the present publicity arrangement. It's just that we need more of it.

SSC Nine Ties For League Title

CHICO—Humboldt State College by winning a double-header from Chico State 6-2 and 7-5 here Saturday, won a tie with Sacramento State College for the Far Western Conference championship.

Sacramento and Humboldt split a double-header earlier in the season and each finished with a nine won and one lost record.

It is the third straight year that the Hornets have had a piece of the title. Last year they won it outright, and in 1954 they shared it with Chico State.

In both games last week, Chico managed to get as many hits as the Lumberjacks. In the first game both teams had seven hits but the Wildcats made six errors.

In the second game each club made one error. Humboldt got seven runs on six hits while the Wildcats got five runs on seven hits.

Pullaro Receives Two Top Honors At Award Dinner

Sammy Pullaro, the Hornet's spry second baseman, was doubly honored at the spring all-sports banquet at Danisio's sponsored by Block S. He received both the outstanding baseball player and the outstanding athlete awards. Pullaro also played a couple of years on the Sacramento State College basketball team as a guard.

ROGER FONG

According to baseball coach Hal Wolfe, Pullaro proves that "it isn't necessary to be 6 feet 2 inches tall and weigh 190 pounds" to be a fine athlete. Pullaro, SSC's smallest baseballer, is only 5 feet 6 inches tall. Athletic Director H. J. McCormick presented the trophy to the "Mighty Mouse," who played the entire baseball season without making a single error.

Little Man Wins

Outstanding boxer award also went to a little man, the Hornet's lightest battler, Roger Fong. The 125-pound scrapper did not miss a single bout all year, according to boxing mentor Hank Elespuru.

Coach Aubrey Bates, who presented the outstanding golfer award to Lou Edgar, emphasized the Hornet linksmen lost only to one conference foe, San Francisco State. The SSCmen, led by Edgar, scored 155 points to the opponent's 145 this season.

Mischo Gets Award

Outstanding tennis player was Jim Mischo. In presenting the trophy, coach Jack Jossi mentioned the Green and Gold netmen completed the season with an above average 14-win, 10-loss record.

Two outstanding trackmen were selected, one in the running events and one in field events. Outstanding runner was Bill Kuykendall, college 880 record holder. The outstanding field events man was Bill Hickey, because according to track coach Elespuru, "he helped in everything."

Riegels Talks

University of California All-American football player Roy Riegels spoke at the banquet. Known as "Wrong Way Riegels," he received nationwide attention because he ran 70 yards in the wrong direction in the 1929 Rose Bowl game against Georgia Tech. Riegel urged athletes to play "for the fun of it."

Guests at the banquet were local high school athletic directors and members of the press.

Awards Presented

Sacramento State College athletes were presented awards yesterday at the annual awards assembly in the cafeteria. Awards of sweaters, jackets and belt buckles were given by the coaches of each sport.

The baseball awards were presented by Hal Wolf. Those players receiving a belt buckle for three years of participation were Sam Pullaro, team captain; Bob Nelson and Doc Haskell. Those receiving jackets for two years of play were John Mazzei and Dick Olson. Receiving letters only, due to a sweater award in another sport, were Jim DeLeon, Bob Heath and Bob Hocking. Receiving sweaters for the first year were Ruben Alvarez, Rich Separovich, Glen Streeter, Dave Warnock and Manager Chuck Taylor.

Track awards were presented by Hank Elespuru. Receiving the jackets were Neal White and Bill Kuykendall. Those who received sweaters were Willy Theard, Dick Greene, Vic Spahn, Bill Hickey, Hal Robinson, Stan Carper, Larry Marshall, Jon Beaver and Jack Dirstine.

For golf, Aubrey Bates presented a belt buckle to Lyle Wilson, jackets to Louis Edgar and Eugene Witt and those receiving sweaters were Jim Stuart, Akio Iwanaga, and George Timme.

Jack Jossi presented awards in tennis. Those receiving jackets were Chuck Green and Jim Mischo. Sweaters were presented to Wally Izumi, Warren Coffeen, Joe Perna and Bob Parks.

Letters to the Editor

as the blind and mentally incapable are.

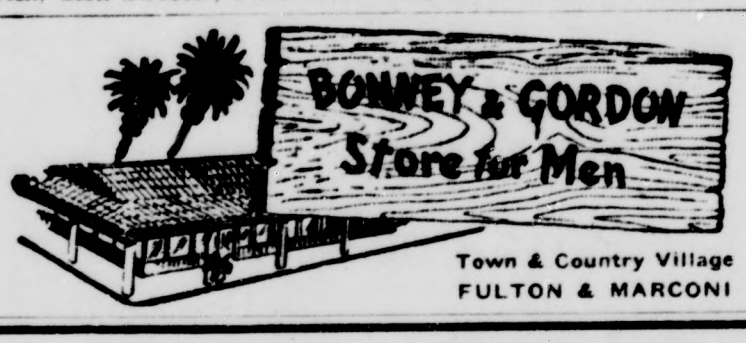

Their's is a pathetic and lethargic lot that are content to stand by and let their mates lead them out to "walk the plank." I speak, of course, of those students of the junior class who allowed that preposterous issue to pass on last May 17.

As a result of their vote, next year's graduates may not pay for their diplomas without footing the bill for the senior gift. They may not rent caps and gowns without purchasing a bid to the senior ball with its name band.

All graduating seniors next year will share equally in the expense of the picnic whether they care to participate or not. Last of all and independent of the foregoing, in fund but not in payment, are the class dues.

Again my congratulations to those 33 juniors who thought of the consequential results before placing their vote in the pseudo-economy column.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young ad man handles G-E jet and rocket engine advertising

The first jet engine ever to power an American plane was built by General Electric in 1942. Since 1948, G.E. has supplied the Air Force with over 30,000 of its famous J47 jet engines. And General Electric's jet experience soon will be paying additional new dividends to national defense. Its J79—called the most advanced engine of its type in the world—will soon enter production.

The man responsible for reporting G.E.'s jet and rocket engine progress to its customers and the public is Roy O. Stratton, Jr., 27-year-old account supervisor in the Company's Apparatus Advertising and Sales Promotion Department.

Stratton's Work Important, Interesting

Stratton supervises the planning and preparation of direct-mail promotion, brochures, films and presentations, as well as public-informational space advertisements for Time, U.S. News & World Report, Business Week, Aviation Week, and other magazines.

Considerable personal contact with the Armed Services makes Stratton's job an interesting one. Last year he traveled over 60,000 miles, visiting many of the country's Air Force bases to gather necessary information and pictures.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Stratton came to General Electric in 1952, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like each of our 25,000 college graduates, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: when fresh young minds are given the freedom to develop, everybody benefits—the individual, the Company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

AFTER RECEIVING a B.A. in English from Brown University, Roy Stratton joined G.E. in 1952 in the Advertising and Public Relations Training Program. He worked as instruction-book editor and advertising copy writer before his current job.
